

SOAS Symposium

Covid-19 today: Voices from diverse communities

Organised by the UKRI Covid-19 research project “Cultural translation and interpreting of Covid-19 risks among London’s migrant communities” (AH/V013769/1)

23rd September 2021, 9:30am to 15:30pm

9:30am	Zoom link opens
9:45am to 10:00am	Welcome and opening remarks by Nana Sato-Rossberg (PI) and Lutz Marten (Co-I)
10:00am to 10:30am	Monika Nangia (SOAS, University of London) Fostering students' sense of belonging at the University during a pandemic
10:30am to 11:00am	Anna Lindley (SOAS, University of London) & Saliha Majeed-Hajaj (Queen Mary University of London) Navigating risk in the pandemic: early insights from research with migrant communities in the UK
11:00am to 11:30am	Stephanie Snow (University of Manchester) Capturing voices in crisis through the NHS Voices of Covid-19 project
11:30am to 12:00pm	Saeko Kimura (Tsuda University) What has Covid-19 brought to Japanese Literature?
12:00pm to 12:30pm	Break
12:30pm to 13:00pm	Banan Saeed (BAHons graduate of African Studies and Linguistics, SOAS) Stigma and shame: the reaction to the COVID-19 pandemic and future Implications for public health In the rapidly changing environment of Sudan
13:00pm to 13:30pm	Kriszta Eszter Szendrői & Lily Kahn (UCL) Translating COVID-19-related information into Hasidic Yiddish
13:30pm to 13:45pm	Break
13:45pm to 15:15pm	Roundtable on the Project “Cultural translation and interpreting of Covid-19 risks among London’s migrant communities” (AH/V013769/1) with the UKRI/AHRC Research team members: Bukola Aluko-Kpotie, Aicha Belkadi, Narguess Farzad, Ida Hadjivayanis, Youkyung Ju, Amy Parsons, Soe-Tjen Marching, Burçin Mustafa, Naresh Sharma, Satona Suzuki, Marie Thaut, Jo Krishnakumar and Abshir Warsame. Also: Nana Sato-Rossberg (PI), Lutz Marten (Co-I), Edward Simpson (Co-I), Yan JIANG (Co-I) Languages of the Project: Arabic, Bengali, Hebrew, Hindi, Indonesian, Japanese, Korean, Persian, Punjabi, Somali, Sylheti, Swahili, Turkish, Urdu, Yoruba
15:15pm to 15:30pm	Concluding remarks and wrap-up by Nana Sato-Rossberg (PI), Lutz Marten (Co-I), Edward Simpson (Co-I), Yan JIANG (Co-I)