

In year 12? Develop your confidence, get ready for university and build your knowledge of global issues by taking part in:

SOAS SCHOLARS: THINKING GLOBALLY!

SOAS Scholars has benefited me hugely, as well as giving me an insight into how university life is in general

I've improved my research skills and become more confident

I loved the topics and issues we look at. It was different from what we learn at school

I've improved my critical thinking and take more interest in the world around me

I enjoyed learning about university through a student's point of view

“SOAS is a very special place. It is at the centre of academic thought on issues affecting the regions in which we specialise: Asia, Africa and the Middle East. It’s a place of vibrant debate. A place where SOAS staff and students ask the big questions and challenge conventional orthodoxy.”

– Valerie Amos, Director, SOAS.

SOAS Scholars is a project that will take place across the following 5 Saturdays, from 10am to 4pm, at SOAS University of London, WC1H 0XG (near Russell Square)

How can I apply?

Submit an application form (by post or email) by the deadline: Friday 28th September.

Application forms can be requested from wpteam@soas.ac.uk.

SOAS Scholars is for students in Year 12, attending state schools or colleges in London. There are a limited number of places available and a mixture of academic and widening participation criteria will be used to allocate places.

Can you tell me more about SOAS?

SOAS University of London was founded a hundred years ago and is the only university in Europe specialising in the study of Asia, Africa and the Middle East. Uniquely combining language scholarship, disciplinary expertise and regional focus, SOAS is distinctively positioned to analyse, understand and explain the world.

We have created SOAS Scholars in order to provide an engaging, innovative and rigorous outreach programme which widens access to university and supports student success and progression.

If you have any questions about this project please contact wpteam@soas.ac.uk.
